OUR FOREFATHERS: THE HARRIS-THACKREY FAMILIES

1. John Harris, Gentleman, and his cousin Thomas were the first of this family to come to America. John was the third son of Sir Thomas Harris, born ca1550, of Bristol, England, a member of the Second Virginia Charter, but never left England. John was born about 1588 in Bristol, England.

This family was partly Welsh descent. Many persons of the name Harris, took an active part in the settlement of Virginia and to a lesser extent of the New England Colonies. John and Thomas came to Virginia in 1611. They were among the settlers who were attacked by the Indians after the death of Powhatan. John was a member of the Shirley Hundreds Burgesses in 1629 and the Third Virginia Charter at Jamestown.

Children of John Harris:

2.
 - i John Harris, Jr.

 - iv Edward Harris (probably)

2. Thomas Harris was likely the father of Henry, the next in line. Scarce records make it difficult to say positively, as Henry is always spoken of as a grandson of John Harris, member of the Third Virginia Charter at James town.
3. Henry Harris had one son.
4. Edward Harris married in 1697 and resided on the James River above Richmond, Va. He had five sons and eight daughters. One daughter married a Hutchinson and another married a Churchill, but the name of only the eldest son is known. (From his will).

William³ and Mary Ann Hollenback born in Virginia, Thomas² of Frederick County, Virginia, Edward¹ and Alice to Virginia in 1737). Mary Ann Hollenback was the daughter of John and Eleanor (Jones) Hollenback and granddaughter of George Hollenback, who with his wife, came to Philadelphia county, Pennsylvania from Germany in 1717.

James Harris was apprenticed to James T. Young to learn the carpentry and building trade. After his apprenticeship he was employed several months as a caprenter on the Capitol Building in Washington. He then established his own business. In 1809 he moved to Clarksville, Clinton County, Ohio. He held local and state offices and was a colonel in the Clinton County Division of the State Militia.

Mary (Cherry) Harris was aristocratic. With all her love of finery she allowed nothing to go to waste and trained her daughters to be thrifty and industrious. Their brick mansion overlooking a beautiful valley is still occupied. The present owner has restored it, inside and out, and has landscaped it until it continues to be a show place.

THACKREY FAMILY

1. Thomas Thackara, progenitor of the family in America, was one of the proprietors of New Jersey. He served in the first legislature that sat in Burlington to frame and adopt laws for the province of West Jersey. He was one of the judges of the Third Tenth from 1682 until 1688, the first judge of Gloucester County. He gave land for the first Friends Meeting House in the county. Their settlement was the third English settlement in New Jersey although the Third Tenth was called the Irish Tenth because the inhabitants came to America from Dublin where they went to escape persecution as Quakers.

The Thackara family were Quakers originally from Yorkshire, England. Several years ago Vida Harris visited the State House and the State Historical Library in Trenton where she found records pertaining to the family.

Barber's 'New Jersey Historical Collections' tells of Thomas Thackara and others in 1681.

Irish certificates received at meetings in Delaware City and Haddonfield, New Jersey states 'Thomas Thackara, wife and children from Dublin' dated 16 June 1681.

New Jersey historical accounts mention this Thomas Thackara, who with his family and nine other Quaker families sailed on 'Owner's Adventure' in the year 1681.

The spelling of the name varies as is the case with many other family names. Prior to the 17th century it was spelled Thackara but a change was made in that century and has varied since then, Thackeray, Thackery and Thackrey being the usual forms. Until the last few years, all people by the name Thackrey in America were descended from Thomas Thackara. When William Makepiece Thackeray was in this country he stated that all were from the same family of Yorkshire, England.
