THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Several members made a list of the contents of the library at 908 Kearney Street this month, so a card file can be typed and maintained in the library. While the Society purchases books of general interest to the members, individual members are purchasing books of interest in their particular area of research, then placing the books on the shelves in the library for the use of other members. This is to be encouraged. All books are used in the library, they are not loaned. However, the bulletins received from other Societies in exchange may be checked out during the Thursday afternoon workshop are to be returned during the next Wednesday evening workshop. More members are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to glean material in their homes.

Special Note: Members working in the library should enter the surnames they are researching in the red State Book. This plan brings together members who are working in the same area and helps the Book Committee to choose books helpful to the members.

Further: Each member is expected to prepare and file in the library an ancestral chart. Some members have not filed their ancestral chart. AND, from time to time, as you may obtain additional data about your family, amend your chart to bring it up-to-date. A card index of the ancestral charts is kept up-to-date in the library. There you may find other surnames and information available from other members.

A Reminder: Each week, unless holidays or special occasions develop, workshops are held in the library, 908 Kearney Street at the side door, on Wednesday evening from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. and on Thursday afternoon from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. Please observe the closing time. On the last Monday evening of each month except December and June and July, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., a workshop AND business and instruction session is held. A special committee each month provides refreshments for the members present.

WILLING TO EXCHANGE

"OLD GRAVESTONES", by Norman C. Paterson

Since so many of the old gravestones were cut from marble or other calcareous types of stone the weathering has been most severe over the years. Of course it must be remembered that most of these stones have been standing over 200 years so it is little wonder that some of the lettering has become very difficult to read. In my visits to these now ancient cemeteries where I have located the graves of my ancestors, I try to follow these steps:

1. With a pencil, I try to follow the lines of indentation to be sure that all the letters are accounted for.
2. With a putty knife I remove all the growth of moss or lichens that have established themselves on the stone. If the cemetery is not too far away and I know that I can get back to it before very long, I use a solution of copper sulphate dissolved in water which when applied to the stone will stop all further growth of the mosses.
3. Usually I try to deepen the lettering with a small sharp chisel to scrape down to fresh stone so the lettering appears about as it did when first cut.
4. Using a soft point waterproof marking pen of black ink, I go over each letter to make it stand out distinctly. If there is any moisture in the stone or if the stone has a coarse grain, the ink has a slight tendency to spread and tends to disfigure the letters so this has to be done carefully.
5. After the stone is cleaned, the lettering recarved, and blackened with waterproof ink, I usually let it dry for awhile if possible, at least an hour.
6. My final step is to mix a waterproof epoxy which is sold in two separate containers. This type of epoxy is the same material used for waterproofing swimming pools, repairing fiberglass boats, and waterproofing cement or cinderblock basements. Sometimes this is not easy to find but I have found it in some lumberyards, in some hardware stores, and I have found a similar product in the sporting goods department in some Montgomery Ward stores. The most desirable product I have found is called "Hydro-Poxy" 396 Clear, "A paint Paint Product" made by the Enterprise Paint Company, Chicago, Illinois. For small quantities this is mixed 4 parts to 1 part and forms a substance much like a slightly thick varnish. This is applied with a paint brush the same as varnish would be but it does take extra time to get it worked into the lettering so I prefer to use a one inch brush or slightly larger. Usually I work the letters first and then cover the stone all over. The final result after it has fully dried is that there is a hard gloss like coating over the entire stone which will surely prevent weathering for many years.

Do you have old Bible records to share with us? Please copy them, word for word, exactly as written. Give the name of the Bible, year it was printed, and the printer. If not the owner, include his name also. Give additional information about the families if you have it.

Do you have a book you would like to have reviewed in "Kansas Kin"? We are planning to include a Book Review section in the future, and will be happy to review books sent to us for that purpose.

To Members from the President

We anticipate compiling a surname index in 1974. For the sake of accuracy, each member is requested to list the earliest known ancestor who came to America or the earliest ancestor of each of his lines, with birthdate and place, death date and place, and spouse. If these aren't known, identify the person with some date and place. Send these to the Society at 908 Kearney before November 1, 1973.

The next meeting will be Monday, September 24. Workshops are held each Wednesday evening from 7:00 to 10:00 and Thursday afternoons from 1:30 to 5:00.

AHNENTAFELS -- ANCESTRAL TABLES

When Kansas Kin began publishing ahnentafels, the space was limited to five generations, but inch by inch it has been creeping up on us until now an ancestral table may require several pages. With our limited number of pages, there is increasing competition for their use, and it seems advisable to re-examine the situation. We will publish ahnentafels on hand as they are -- but we would like your opinion as to the most suitable length for later editions.

There are several choices. Among them: 1. Go back to the five generations (less than one page). 2. Let each person decide how much space her would like. 3. Allow one page per person (two pages for a couple), to be used at their discretion... Other choices? Let us hear from you.

In making an ahnentafel . . .

1. List one name only per number. Either work out numbers for additional names or put them in a footnote.
2. Separate names by generations. Indicate missing names by a single line.
3. Arrange dates in columns, not at random. (Example in May 1973 issue.)
4. Ahnentafels will be published for members only.

We are in need of many more ahnentafels. They are an excellent means of contacting others interested in your lines. If you are ready to write your ancestral table, consult by phone or in person with your ahnentafel editor. It may save work for every one.

-- Helen Robers, ahnentafel editor

BOOK REVIEWS

Kansas Kin will gladly review and give notice of your publication, the cost, and where the book can be purchased, if you will send us a review copy. Your publication will be reviewed in an issue of Kansas Kin, and then placed in the library of the Riley County Genealogical Society.

Wheelin' and Dealin': The Memoirs of Dan E. Sauder. Mennonite Press, 1971, North Newton, Kansas. Hard cover, 112 pages, illustrated.

If you are interested in the history of bus, truck, and air transportation in Kansas or have family ties in Greenwood County, you will enjoy this slender volume. It's an intensely impersonal account of Mr. Sauder's 54 years in the transportation business, beginning with his first job shoveling cinders for the Santa Fe railway at 15 cents an hour through the years to the time when his trucks and busses were traveling 150,000 miles a day across the nation and he was pioneering in air travel and flying schools.

"My work, of which I never tired," he writes, "was dealing with people and wheeling them across the country to points of service and need." He recalls with deep appreciation the people and circumstances that helped him make a mark on his generation.

There are poignant memories of his early life in the Flint Hills farmhouse "fragrant with good food, staunch with faith (his God-fearing parents), and fellowship (his 12 brothers and sisters). The concluding chapter, "Human Values," summarizes the truths life has taught him. He lauds the importance of work, thrift, tolerance, prayer and play, getting along with others, and belonging to and working in a church.

Mr. Sauder, still dapper and active in his 80's, plans to publish his Family Tree soon to go along with his memoirs. Jacket design and etching of the old Sauder farmhouse are by his granddaughter, Patty Ferguson.

ANNUAL WORKSHOP -- Martha A. Montgomery, editor of the Illinois State Genealogical Society Quarterly, spoke to 75 people at the workshop held October 29. Her topic was "The Old Northwest Territory." Before and after her informative speeches, she devoted considerable time to individual interests, which was greatly appreciated by those attending.

SURNAME INDEX -- The deadline for turning in your surnames has been extended to January 17. On your pedigree chart, follow each line to the last person listed and put his or her name on a sheet for the surname directory. There should be a listing for each different surname on your chart. . . Double space between each listing, or put each surname on a file card. If a line goes overseas, list only the ancestor who came to the United States. . . When known, give dates and places of birth, death, and marriage, and name of spouse. When nothing is known but a name, give it a time and place, perhaps by listing the date and place of a child's birth.

NEXT MEETING will be January 28 at 7:00 p.m. The program begins at 8:00 p.m. If you have used the library in the past year, please check at home for genealogy bulletins accidentally taken from the library. Also missing is Gilbert Doane's "Searching for Your Ancestors." Among the missing bulletins are copies of American Genealogist, Michigan Heritage, and Detroit Magazine. . . . If you locate any, please contact Mrs. Earl Sitz, 539-4882.

GRANGER
MALLERY Martha M. Kramer, 1115 Bertrand St., Manhattan, Ks. 66502
Searching for Granger or Mallery kin, Noblesville area, Indiana, early 19th century. My maternal great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Heaton, were back and forth between Ohio and Indiana. She died in Indiana in 1832, leaving two teen-age daughters and a three-year old son, William Conner Heaton who was born 1829, Hamilton, Butler Co., Ohio. Daniel thought to have gone exploring to the west, but the children remained in Indiana. The girls married-Melinda to Ross Wagner and Johanna to Chester Spencer. (b 1811, Columbia Co., N.Y.) The small boy (my grandfather) became a member of the Granger family and later knew the Mallery family. (Melissa Granger married Calvin Mallery) Thus my Heaton papers include numerous notes and old clippings about the Granger and Mallery families....mostly from Noblesville area, Hamilton Co., Indiana. Will exchange information.
